

Nathan Wang-Ly

Email: nathanwangly@gmail.com

Mobile: 0425 293 973

LinkedIn: au.linkedin.com/in/nathanwangly

EDUCATION

Jan 2020 – Present

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (PSYCHOLOGY)

University of New South Wales

- Research Topic: The role of uncertainty in risky intertemporal choices
- Supervisors: Prof. Ben Newell, Assoc. Prof. Chris Donkin

Mar 2015 – Oct 2018

BACHELOR OF PSYCHOLOGY (HONS)

University of New South Wales

- First Class Honours
- High Distinction average results (88.67 WAM)
- Honours Project: Do people care about being nudged? The acceptability and effectiveness of transparent nudges

KEY EXPERIENCES

Nov 2018 – Present

BEHAVIOURAL RESEARCH MANAGER

Commonwealth Bank of Australia | Financial Wellbeing

- Applied behavioural science within a large financial institution with the purpose of improving the financial wellbeing of people and communities
- Added scientific rigour to business initiatives by developing robust experimental designs and producing literature reviews in areas such as financial decision-making
- Performed data analysis to produce business and research insights that informed key strategic and prioritisation decisions
- Collaborated within an Agile environment as part of a multidisciplinary digital design team, including UX designers, developers, and data scientists

Jul 2017 – Jul 2018

PRESIDENT

Enactus UNSW

- Led a non-profit organisation of over 80 members across 12 teams
- Coordinated student engagement programs centred around social entrepreneurship, such as a 3-week summer internship
- Delivered workshops on leadership and design thinking
- Collaborated and liaised with stakeholders from UNSW faculty, community organisations, and corporations like Macquarie Bank and Westpac